DE ORO LEADS FOR
BILLIARD TITLER. Edgar's
COLUMNEddie McGoorty, Young Saylor
and Ray Bronson May "Clean Up" on Australian Tour.

EDDIE MCGOORTY, Ray Bronson and Young Saylor signed a contract yesterday for an Australian tour. They are to sail from San Francisco Nov. 12. While in the Antipodes they are to meet whatever opponents may be selected by the Australian promoter, Snowy Baker, successor of Hugh G. McIntosh.

McGoorty might as well go to Australia as stay here, for he has been barred from competition for several months by the State Boxing Commission in Wisconsin, which automatically bars him from New York. Mac has little to fear from any fighter he may meet on the other side of the world, judging from the way in which he knocked out Dave Smith, Australia's middleweight champion, here in New York.

Young Saylor knocked out Freddy Welsh a few days ago, which may make him a drawing card down below the equator. The blow that knocked Welsh out was judged a foul by the referee, and Welsh was given the decision. Many spectators thought it a fair blow in the pit of the stomach. Welsh, being a vegetarian, isn't doing well along the edge of the lower ribs. Young Saylor is a pretty fair light-weight.

As for Ray Bronson, the Australians know his style, and like him. The three should "clean up" fairly well, judging from the success of Johnny Sumners and other English boxers who have been backed as champions down below.

NOV. 11 an American track team of four men sails for Australia too. It has been a hard thing to find four men willing to spend their time on such an extended athletic trip. Jim Powers, B. A. A., will take care of the distance runs, the American mile champion, having won his title by taking the mile event in the United States National championships and the Canadian championships. Alvin Meyer, while not by any means the best sprinter in this country, is a fairly fast man and a consistent performer. Huric Templeton of the Olympic A. C. of San Francisco runs the hurdles in fast time. Reginald Caughey, while not listed among our national champions as a weight man, comes from Ukiah, Cal., which town has developed many first class hammer-throwers and shotputters.

These boys will hardly show what the United States can do in an Olympic meet, but they will give Australians a very fair idea of American training and competing form and methods, which is just what the Australians want. Australia is anxious to develop athletes for future Olympic needs, and for this reason is paying the expenses of the visiting team. There's a wealth of athletic material in Australia. The climate is perfect for athletic competition. The only reason Australians haven't made a stronger showing in the world competition is that up to date they have given much more time and attention to football and cricket than to track athletics.

WILLIE RITCHIE is being coached in the intricacies of the New York boxing rules. Leach Cross has learned all about them through hard experience. In California, where Ritchie has done most of his fighting, boxers work under "straight Queensberry rules," protecting themselves in the breaks and using one or two punches that are (theoretically) barred here. Being bound by unaccustomed regulations may be a slight handicap for Ritchie, but not enough to furnish an alibi if Leach lands his haymaker. It is said that in this contest the rules will be enforced. This will be a novelty. For months the referees in this town have been turning their blind side toward infractions of the rules, disqualifying foul fighting boxers only in the most extreme cases.

BOB CLARK telephoned in about his heavyweight, Soldier Kearns. See Bob, answer: "I'll give Gunboat a present of $250 the minute he steps into a ring with Kearns. I have a feeling that there's one man on earth the Soldier can lick, and that's the Gunner. Gunboat once claimed that he had a K. O. over Soldier Kearns, but he didn't explain that it wasn't my Soldier Kearns, but some poor dub up in Seattle. Buckley won't let the Gunner fight Kearns, and the only reason he'll give is that 'some Kearns called Gunboat names.'"

CHARLES W. MURPHY of West Side Park, Chicago, is going to leave baseball in this country next year, as neither Tilla Shafer nor Charley Herzog intend to return to New York. It was only after repeated requests that Tilla, of acented note fame, was induced to return to the ranks the past season. Shafer has all kinds of money and he is of a temperament that doesn't like to come in contact with the "rude ball players." It is stated that all last season Shafer held absolutely aloof from the rest of the team, not caring to associate with them, and whenever any of them said an improper word he was very much shocked.

When the world's series ended he told in confidence that he'd never leave California to play ball again. The reasons for Herzog not caring to come back are entirely different. He feels that he wasn't squarely treated by the management in forcing him to warm the bench all season and only putting him in the world's series out of necessity. He declared that his showing in the previous world's series with the Red Sox entitled him to the permanent possession of third base and when he was taken off the bag his feelings got an awful bump. He says he has plenty of money to keep the wolves and sharks from the door of his Maryland cantaloupe farm for many years to come.

With these two men missing Eddie Grant is likely to be given custody of the third station.

BLUE AND WHITE HAS MANY WRESTLING DATES.

The Columbia wrestling team has arranged one of the longest schedules in the history of the sport on Morningside Heights.

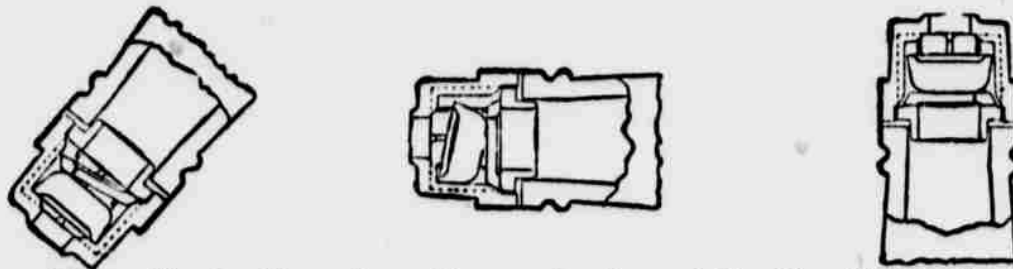

The Blue and White team will take part in eight dual contests in addition to the intercollegiate championship meet, which is to be staged at the University of Pennsylvania on March 27 and 28.

SUCCEED LYNCH AS BASEBALL LEADER?

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 5.—It was reported here to-day that John K. Tener of Pittsburgh, Governor of Pennsylvania and a great ball player in his time, had been selected to succeed Thomas Lynch as president of the National League.

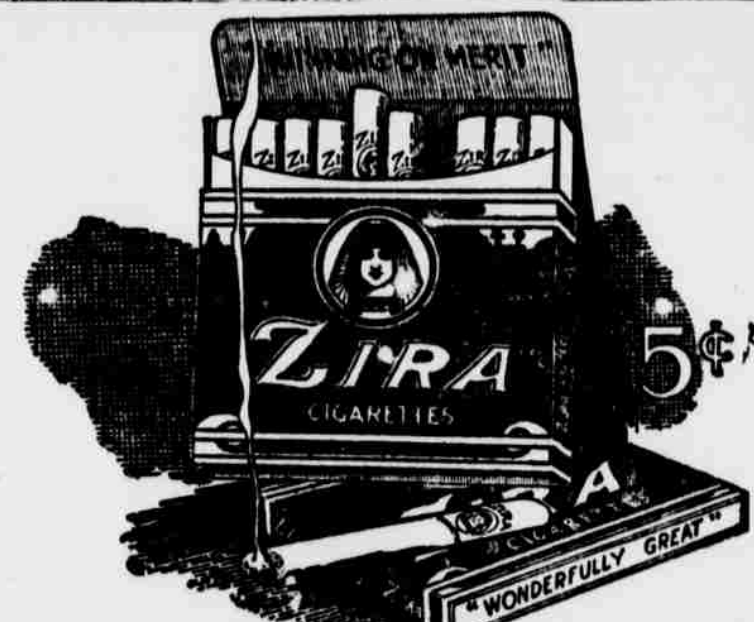

August Herrmann, president of the National Baseball Commission, was not in the city early to-day, but the Cincinnati Enquirer stated an arrangement had been made whereby Mr. Tener will be the new president of the league without opposition.

It was also announced that the baseball season of 1914 will open April 14.

Velours Are Elected.

London and Paris both have experienced a season of Velour Soft Hats. And New York Goodremers—quick to note the trend of fashion—have demanded Velour Soft Hats too. Velour Soft Hats may be had around town at $5.50 and up, but they are not made with the new drop brim. Through the foresight of Truly Worn, the famous "Master to the Goodremers," you can get a smart new drop brim Velour Soft Hat with rich Fugger's velvet band at $5.50.
